Re: Letter of Recommendation for Eagle Builders

Dear Mr. Gohr,

I highly recommend the work of Eagle Builders based upon their planning and construction of several of my past projects related to Earthquake Hazard Reduction (EHR) of existing buildings. These projects often involve unusual archaic materials of construction and are listed on historic registers, are contributing structures within historic districts or eligible for historic designation. The means and methods to implement the construction involve careful planning of the entire process in order to protect the character defining features and adjacent existing construction. Eagle Builders always carefully studies the approved working drawings well in advance of any stage of the construction and always promptly reports any discrepancies or discovered conditions that might prevent conformance to the approved drawings. Discovered conditions are quite common in existing construction as many areas are not readily accessible during development of the structural design. The careful advanced planning of each construction step greatly enhances the overall quality assurance and construction budget. All of my past projects with Eagle Builders go very smoothly and your encouragement of the cooperation between the general contractor, inspectors, building officials, sub-contractors and design professionals are highly valued by all the owners' representatives at the close of each project. Please advise if you need me to elaborate more on our past collaborations to any of your prospective clients and I will be pleased to do so.

Very truly yours,

Michael Krakower SE
